

FRP Panels for the Sign Industry

Outdoor signage is exposed to constant sun, wind, and rain. KAL-LITE® FRP is a flat, stable alternative to PVC and ACM that resists fading, cracking, and delamination.

Available in custom sizes, our sheets give sign makers the flexibility to handle small projects or large-format applications with ease. Let KAL-LITE® cut your sheets to size and grommet holes at no additional cost, production becomes faster, cleaner, and more efficient. This is FRP that works the way sign shops actually work.

Why Sign Professionals Choose KAL-LITE®

Our FRP panels are engineered for sign fabrication—smooth surfaces, predictable thickness, and excellent rigidity for routing, laminating, and mounting.

- Fast Turnarounds
Short lead times keep your jobs moving. We're built for responsiveness, not excuses.
- No Minimums on Stock Colors
Order what you need. Not what a spreadsheet demands.
- Lower Custom Color Minimums
Custom colors typically start around 2,000 sq. ft., not the 6,000+ sq. ft. many competitors require. That's real flexibility.
- Cut-to-Size at No Extra Cost
Reduce waste, handling, and labor. We'll ship panels sized for your workflow.
- Made in the USA
Consistent quality. Reliable supply. Straight answers.

Built for Applications

KAL-LITE® FRP panels are ideal for:

- Sign blanks
- Interior & exterior signage
- Routed letters and logos
- Backer panels
- Architectural signage elements
- OEM sign systems

Our material machines cleanly, holds shape, and delivers a professional finish your customers notice, even if they don't know why it looks better.

Materials That Respect Your Margin

Sign shops win by controlling time, waste, and rework.

KAL-LITE® helps you:

- Reduce excess inventory
- Minimize scrap
- Shorten production cycles
- Say “yes” to more custom jobs

That's not marketing language. That's operational reality.

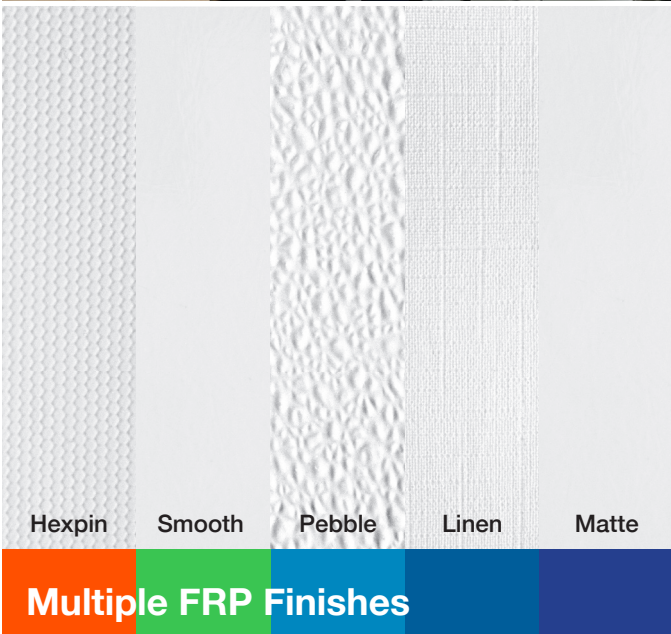

Real People. Real Support

When you call KAL-LITE® you talk to a real person who understands materials and deadlines.
